Image Caption using CNN-LSTM Mode as a Language Model 1. In this project we will generate image captions using the RNN as a language model. We will proceed with the following steps.

2. Using pretrained CNN to extract image features. A pretrained VGG16 CNN will be used to extract image features which will be concatenated with the RNN output
3. Prepare training data. The training captions will be tokenized and embedded using the GLOVE word embeddings. The embeddings will be fed into the RNN.
4. Model definition
5. Training the model
6. Generating novel image captions using the trained model. Test images and images from the internet will be used as input to the trained model to generate captions. The captions will be examined to determine the weaknesses of the model and suggest improvements.
7. Beam search. We will use beam search to generate better captions using the model.
8. Model evaluation. The model will be evaluated using the BLEU and ROUGE metric.

The feature extraction model will use the VGG16 input as model input. However, the second last layer “fc2” of VGG16 will be used as the output of our extraction model. This is so because we do not need the final softmax layer of VGG16.

A young girl with blonde hair, wearing a blue sleeveless top and overalls, is sitting on a green lawn in a garden. She is playing with a blue plastic slide toy. The background shows a variety of flowers and greenery. The image is overlaid with a coordinate system showing x and y axes ranging from 0 to 5000.

A photograph of a woman with long blonde hair, wearing a black coat, black tights, and red boots, sitting on a wooden bench in a park setting. The bench is made of light-colored wood and is positioned in front of a hedge with pink flowers. The ground is covered in fallen leaves. The image is presented as if it were a graph, with a y-axis on the left ranging from 0 to 500 and an x-axis at the bottom ranging from 0 to 600.

A photograph of a man wearing a black jacket and a red baseball cap standing on a sharp, rocky peak. He is looking towards the right side of the frame. In the background, there are more mountain ridges under a clear sky. The image is overlaid with a coordinate system showing a vertical axis from 0 to 3000 and a horizontal axis from 0 to 5000.

A scatter plot with a single data point at (2000, 1000). The x-axis ranges from 0 to 2000, and the y-axis ranges from 0 to 5000. A horizontal line is at y=1000, and a vertical line is at x=2000. The data point is a photograph of a man in a red shirt and green pants standing in front of a crosswalk painting.
